The American Cough Candy.
WE know of nothing in the annals of medicine which has achieved, within the same space of time, so just and general a reputation, as the above invaluable Cough Remedy. Testimonials of its wonderful efficacy in curing the most inveterate cold continue to flow in upon us. We are assured that where ever used it is superceding all other remedies of the kind. Grevious to relate, the Nightengale had she tested its virtue, probably never would have taken to herself a Goldschmidt. She having taken that melancholy step, from the fear that her voice was gone forever; having experienced only temporary relief from the Remedy last taken.
Why is the American Cough Candy like a Black Cloud? Because it goes ahead of Storms.

THIS Company offers unrivalled facilities for the Insurance of Buildings and Personal Property against fire. The advantages offered, are security beyond the reach of circumstances, as the real estate insured is by law bound for the assessment made to cover losses beyond the power of evasion. Every person insured is a member of the Company, and entitled to one vote. The cost of insurance does not exceed one-third as much as in Stock Companies, saying nothing of the increased security and the incomparable ease with which losses are settled. During the last five years, this Company have issued 2600 Policies, and made but three assessments at a cost to the property insured, not exceeding two mills on the dollar. IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!
THE following advertisement was published in May, 1849, in the "Boston Daily Times," and various other newspapers in the United States, by James G. Wilson, Esq., the owner of the "Woodworth Patent," shortly after I had advertised my "PATENT STATIONARY CUTTER, PLANING, TONGUEING, AND GROOVING MACHINE," throughout the United States:
"PLANING MACHINES.
"I take this method of answering the frequent inquiries, by letter and otherwise, as to my opinion upon the various notices through the papers, of the Stationary Knife Planing Machines attempted to be palmed off upon several persons ignorant of their true worth. I would state for the information of the enquirers that they will find substantially the machine now offered by several pretending inventors, described in the 10th volume of the Repertory of Arts, invented by Samuel Benthan, in the year 1791. A like machine was patented in this country by one Kugler, some sixteen years since, and another one put up by Albert Richards, of West Troy, N. Y., and abandoned about the same time. It ought to satisfy the public to know that after fifty eight years experimenting upon these machines, not one in use is of any value for the purposes contemplated.
I will furnish a Stationary Knife Machine equal to any now in use, or to any offered by the pretending inventors, at the cost of the machine and five per cent for my trouble.
JAMES G. WILSON,
May 19, 1849. Philadelphia."
I deny that any person ever saw or heard of such a machine as mine until I invented the same. Said machine was operated in the month of August, 1848, and no machine before this could do so much work, and do it as well as mine. In reply to the above advertisement, and in order that the public may be assured that I mean what I say, I will offer to pledge ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS against an equal amount from said Wilson, that ONE of my machines will plane, or plane, tongue and groove with less power, as much lumber in the same time, and do it as well, or better than TWO of the "Woodworth" machines. The trial to be made at my Steam Mill, Border St., East Boston, Mass., or at such other place as may be convenient for such a trial.
JOSEPH P. WOODBURY,
August 20, 1851.-d1y East Boston, Mass.

JOHN DWIGHT & CO'S
SODA SALÆRATUS
MAY be found at the Sugar Warehouse of Goodrich & Hunter, No. 42 East water-st.
The attention of the public is called to this article as being superior to Pearlash Saleratus in its effect—giving cookery a more delicate appearance and flavor; and also as more wholesome—Soda being more congenial to the human system than Potash. It is more economical than Pearlash Saleratus—a less quantity being required to produce the same effect. The article is put up in pound papers with full directions for use.
Also may be found, John Dwight & Co.'s
Washing & Cleansing Powders, which will be found, on trial, a very superior article, saving much labor of washing Clothes, &c. It will soften hard water. To Engineers and Machinists it is invaluable for removing grease from Machinery and other iron works leaving the iron perfectly dry, and not liable to rust.
Directions for use are printed on each package.

(Late Butterfield & Averell's,)
WOULD call the attention of the Public, (and his old Friends and Customers in particular,) to his large and extensive stock of Wines, Liquors & Cigars,
Purchased by himself in the City of New York, within the last month, FOR CASH, at prices from 25 to 33 per cent less than formerly paid through partners, and I can assure my customers that the Liquors that I now offer, have not passed through second hands; on the contrary, I saw all my goods sealed for shipping, and turned out of the CUSTOM HOUSE; therefore, I can say with confidence, that my Liquors are PURE.
I have marked my Goods very low, and have therefor adopted the
and no deviation from the price first asked; giving those who are not judges of the article, an equal chance with those that are. Every cask will be marked with the price. My arrangements are now completed for the importation of my Fall Stock, when I shall be able to fill orders in New York on still more favorable terms than formerly.
Having been three years in business in this city, I flatter myself that my selections will meet the wants of this market. My assortment of CHOICE SEGARS are complete and my stock of LIQUORS comprises over 1000 original Casks of the most approved brands of

The Wolf Gathering.

One winter evening some years ago, I sat with a small circle of friends round the fire, in the house of a Polish gentleman, whom his acquaintances agreed in calling Mr. Charles, as the most pronounceable of his names. He had fought in all his country's battles of the unsuccessful revolution of 1831; and being one of the many who sought life and liberty in the British dominions, on the failure of that last national effort, he had, with a spirit worthy of an exiled patriot, made the best of his unchosen fortunes, and worked his way up, through a thousand privations, to a respectable standing in the mercantile profession. At the period mentioned, Mr. Charles had become almost naturalized in one of our great commercial towns, was a member of a British church and the head of a British house-hold; but when the conversation happened to turn on sporting matters round his own fireside, he related in perfect seriousness the following wild and legend-like story of his early life in Poland.—

The year before the rising, I went from my native place in Samogita (Szamoit,) to spend Christmas at the house of my uncle, in the wooded country of Upper Lithuania. He was a nobleman who boasted his descent from one of the oldest houses in Poland and still held the estate which his ancestors defended for themselves through many a Tartar invasion—as much land as a hunting-train could course over in a summer's day. But ample as his domain appeared, my uncle was by no means rich upon it. The greater portion had been forest-land for ages; else-where it was occupied by poor peasants and their fields; and in the centre he lived, after the fashion of his fore-fathers, in a huge timber house with antiquated fortifications, where he exercised liberal hospitality, especially at Christmas times. My uncle was a widower, but he had three sons—Armand, Henrique, and Constantine—brave, handsome young men, who kept close intimacy and right merry companionship with their nearest neighbors, a family named Lorenski. Their property bordered on my uncle's land, and there was not a family of their station within leagues; but independently of that circumstance, the house-hold must have had attractions for my cousins, for it consisted of the young Count Emerich, his sister Constanza, and two orphan cousins, Marcella and Eustachia, who had been brought up with them from childhood.

The count's parents had died in his early youth, leaving not only his own guardian, but that of his sister and cousins; and the young people had grown up safely and happily together in that forest-land. The cousins were like most of our Polish girls in the provinces, dark-eyed and fearless, and ready alike for a dance, or the chase, but Count Emerich and his sister had the praise of the whole province for their noble carriage, their wise and virtuous lives, and the great affection that was between them. Both had strange courage, and were said to fear neither ghost nor goblin—which, I must remark, was not a common case in Lithuania. Constanza was the eldest by two years, and by far the most discreet and calm of temper, by which it was beleived she rather ruled the household, though her brother had a high and fiery spirit. But they were never known to disagree, and though still young, neither seemed to think of marrying. Fortunately, it was not so with all their neighbors. My stay at my uncle's house had not been long when I found out that Armand was as good as engaged to Marcela, and Henrique to Eustachia, while Constantine, the youngest and handsomest of the three brothers, paid vain though deferential court to Constanza.

The rising was not then publicly talked of, though known to be in full preparation throughout the country. All the young and brave hearts among us were pledged to it, and my cousins did not hesitate to tell me in confidence that Count Emerich and his sister were its chief promoters in that district. They had a devoted assistant in Father Cassimer. He had been their mother's confessor, and lived in the house for five-and-thirty years, saying mass regularly in the parish church, a pine-built edifice on the edge of the forest. Father Cassimer's hair was like snow; but he was still erect, strong, and active. He said the church could not spare him, and he would live to a hundred. In some respects the man did deserve a century, being a good Pole and a worthy priest, notwithstanding one weakness which beset him, for Father Cassimer took special delight in hunting. It was said that once, when robed for mass, a wild boar chanced to stray past; whereon the good priest mounted his horse, which was usually fastened to the church-door, and started after the game in full canonicals. That was in his youth; but Father Cassimer never denied the tale, and the peasants who remember it had no less confidence in his prayers, for they knew he loved his country, and looked after the sick and poor. The priest was my cousin's instructor in wood-craft, and the boon-companion of my uncle; but scarcely had I got well acquainted with him and the Lorenskis, when two Christmas visitors arrived at their house.

They were a brother and sister, Russian nobles, known as Count Theodore and Countess Juana. Their native place was St. Petersburg, but they had spent years in travelling over Europe; and though nobody knew the extent of their estates, it was supposed to be great, for they spared no expense, and always kept the best society. Latterly they had been somehow attracted to Poland, and became so popular among our country nobles, that they were invited from house to house, making new friends wherever they went, for Russians though they were, they wished well to our country, and, among their intimates, spoke of liberty and justice with singular eloquence. Considering this, their popularity was no wonder. A handsomer or more accomplished pair I never saw. Both were tall, fair, and graceful, with hair of a light golden shade—the sister's descending almost to her feet when unbraided, and the brother's clustering in rich curls about the brow. They knew the dances of all nations, could play any thing that was ever invented, whether game or instrument, and talked in every tongue of Europe, from Romaic to Swedish. Both could ride like Arabs. Count Theodore was a splendid shot, his sister was matchless in singing, and neither was ever tired of fun or frolic.—They seemed of the Lorenskis' years, but had seen more of the world; and though scarcely so dignified, most people preferred the frank familiarity and lively converse of the travelled Russians.

The Lorenskis them-elves could not but applaud that general preference. They and the travellers had become fast friends almost on their first acquaintance, which took place in the previous winter; and Count Theodore and his sister had performed a long wintery journey from St. Petersburg, to celebrate the Christmas-time with them. Peasants and servants rejoiced at their coming, for they were known to be liberal. The old priest said it had never been his luck to see anything decent out of Russia before, and my uncle's household were delighted, with the exception of Constantine. By and by, I guessed the cause of his half-concealed displeasure. The brother of each pair took wonderfully to the sister of the other. Count Theodore talked of bying an estate in Lithuania; and the young cousins predicted, that though Emerich and Constanza might be near neighbors, they could not live all their days free and single. After the Russians' arrival there was nothing but sport among us. We had dances and concerts, plays and all manner of games; but the deep snow of our polish winter, had not hardened to the usual strong ice, over marsh, river, and forest land. It continued falling day after day, shutting all our amusements within doors, and preventing, to our general regret, the wonted wolf-hunt, always kept up in Lithuania from the middle of December till Christmas Eve.

It was a custom, time immemorial, in the province, and followed as much for the amusement it afforded to the young people, as for the destruction of the deadly prowler. The mode of conducting it was this: Every two or three families who chanced to be intimate when the ice was sufficiently strong and smooth for sledge-travelling, sent forth a party of young hunters, with their sisters and sweethearts, in a sledge covered at one end, which was also well cushioned and gaily painted; the ladies in their best winter dresses took possession of it, while the hunters occupied the exposed part [illegible] hunting-knives, with guns, shot-pouches, and the drivers, in complete readiness. Beside [illegible], who was generally an old experienced man, there was placed a young hog, or a leg of pork, occasionally roasted to make the odor more inviting, and packed up with cords and straw in a pretty tight parcel, which was fastened to the sledge by a long rope twisted to almost iron hardness. Away they drove at full speed; and when fairly in the forest, the pork was thrown down, and allowed to drag after the sledge, the smell of it bringing wolves from every quarter, while the hunters fired at them as they advanced. I have seen a score of skins collected in this manner, not to speak of the fun, the excitement, and the opportunities for exhibiting one's marksmanship and courage where one would most wish to have them seen.

The peasants said it was never lucky when Christmas came without a wolf-hunt; but that year it was like to be so; for, as I have said, the snow kept falling at intervals, with days of fog and thaw between, till the night before the vigil. In my youth, the Lithuanians kept Christmas after the fashion of old northern times. It began with great devotion, and ended in great feasting. The eve was considered particularly sacred; many traditional ceremonies and strange beliefs hung about it, and the more pious held that no one should engage in any profane occupation, or think of going to sleep after sunset. When it came, our disappointment concerning the wolf-hunt lay heavy on many a mind as well as mine; but a strong frost had set in before daybreak, and at the early nightfall a finer prospect for sleighing could not be desired; over the broad plain, and far between the forest pines, the ice stretched away as smooth and bright as a mirror. The moon was full, and the stars were out by thousands; you could have read large print by the cold, clear light, as my cousins and I stood at my uncle's door, fervently wishing it had been any other evening. Suddenly, our ears caught the sound of bells and laughing voices, and in a few minutes up drove the Lorenski sledge in its gayest trappings, with Constanza, the Russian countess, and the young cousins, all looking blithe and rosy in the frosty air, while Emerich and Theodore sat in true hunter's trim, and Father Cassimer himself in the charge of the reins, with the well-covered pork beside him. They had two noble horses of the best Tartar blood, unequalled in the province, as we knew, for speed and strength; and Emerich's cheerful voice first saluted us with 'Ho! friends, it is seven hours yet till midnight: won't you come with us?—it is a shame to let Christmas in without a wolf-skin.'

That was enough for us; we flew in for our equipments. My uncle was not at first willing that we should go: but the merry company now at his door, the unequivocal countenance which Father Cassimer gave to the proceeding, and the high spirits of the young Russians, who were, as usual, wild for the sport, made him think that, after all, there was no harm in the young people taking an hour or two in the woods before mass, which on Christmas-eve begins always at midnight. Our hunting-gear was donned in a trice; and with my uncle's most trusty man, Metski, to assist in driving, away we want at full speed to he forest.

Father Cassimer was an experienced general in expeditions of the kind; he knew the turns of the woods where the wolves scented best; and when we had got fairly among the tall oaks, down went his pork. For some time it dragged on without a single wolf appearing, though the odor came strong and savory through cords and straw.

"If I were a wolf myself, I would come for that" said old Metski. The priest quickened his speed, vowing he would not say mass without a skin that night; and we got deeper into the wilderness of oak and pine. Like most of our Lithuanian forests, it had no underwood. There was ample space for our sledges among the great trees, and the moonlight fell in a flood of brightness upon their huge white trunks, and through the frost-covered branches. We could see the long icicles gleaming like pendants of diamonds for miles through the wide woods, but never a wolf. The priest began to look disappointed; Metski sympathized with him, for he relished a hunt almost as well as his reverence; but all the rest, with the help of the Russians, amused themselves with making game. I have said they were in great spirits, particularly Count Theodore; indeed he was generally the gayer of the pair—his sister being evidently the more prudent—and in this respect they resembled the Lorenskis. Many a jest, however, on the non-appearance of the wolves went round our sledge, of which I remember nothing now except that we all laughed till the old wood rang.

"Be quiet, good children," said the priest, turning in his seat of command; "you make noise enough to frighten all the wolves in creation."

"They won't come to night, father; they are preparing for mass," cried Count Theodore.—"Juana, if the old Finn were here now, wouldn't he be useful?"

"Perhaps he might," said the countess with a forced laugh; but she cast a look of strange warning and reproof on her brother.

"What Finn?" said the priest, catching the count's words.

"Oh, he is talking of an old nursery-tale we had in St. Petersburg," hastily interposed the lady, though I thought her face had no memory of the nursery in it.

"About the Finns I'll warrant," said Father Cassimer. "They are a strange people. My brother the merchant told me that he knew one of them at Abo, who said he had a charm for the wolves; but somebody informed against him for smuggling, and the Russian government sent him to the lead-mines in Siberia. By Saint Sigismund, there's the first of them!"

As the priest spoke, a large wolf appeared, and half the guns in the sledge were raised. "Not yet, not yet," said our experienced commander, artfully turning away as another and another came in sight. "There are more coming," and he gradually slackened our pace; but far off through the moonlit woods and the frozen night we could hear a strange murmur, which grew and swelled on all sides to a chorus of mingled howlings, and the wolves came on by troops.

'Fire now, friends!' cried Father Cassimer. 'We me like to have skins enough for Christmas" and bang went all our barrels. I saw five fall; but, contrary to expectation, the wolves did not retire—they stood for an instant snarling at us. The distant howlings continued and came nearer; and then from every glade and alley, down the frozen streams, and through the wide openings of the forest, came by scores and hundreds such a multitude of wolves as we could not have believed to exist in all Lithuania.

'Hand me my gun, and take the reins, Metski,' cried Father Cassimer. 'Drive for your life!' he added in an under tone; but every one in the sledge heard him. Heaven knows how many we killed; but it seemed of no use. Our pork was swallowed, straw and all. The creatures were pressing upon us on every side, as if trying to surround the sledge; and it was fearful to see the leaps that some gray old fellows among them would take at Metski and the horses. Our driver did his part like a man, making a thousand winds and turns through the woods; but still the wolves pursued us. Fortunately, the firing kept them off, and thanks to our noble horses, they were never able to get ahead of us; but as far as we could see behind us in the moonlight, came the howling pack as if rising from the ground of the forest. We had seen nothing like it, and all did their best in firing, especially Count Theodore; but his shots had little effect, for his hand shook, and I know not if any but myself saw the looks of terrified intelligence which he exchanged with his sister. Still, she and the Lady Constanza kept up their courage, though the young cousins were as white as snow, and our ammunition was fast decreasing.

"Yonder is a light," said Constanza at last, as the poor horses became unmanageable from fright and weariness. "It is from the cottage of old Wenzel, the woodman."

"If we could reach that," said Father Cassimer ' and leave the horses to their fate; it is our only chance."

No one contradicted the priest's arrangement, for his last words were felt to be true—though a pang passed over Constanza's face at the thought of leaving our brave and faithful horses to the wolves; but louder rose the howls behind us, as Metski urged on with all his might, and far above all went the shout of Father Cassimer (he had the best lungs in that province;). "Ho, Wenzel! open the door to us for God's sake!"

We heard the old man reply, sent one well-aimed valley in among the Wolves, and as they recoiled, man and woman leaped from the sledge—for our Polish girls are active—and rushed into the cottage, when old Wenzel instantly double-baned the door. It was woful to hear the cry of pain and terror from our poor horses as we deserted them; the next instant the wolves were upon them. We saw them from the window, as thick as ever flies stuck on sugar. How we fired upon them and with what good-will old Wenzel helped us, praying all the time to every saint in the calendar, you may imagine! But still their numbers were increasing; and as a pause came in the fearful din, we plainly heard through the still air the boom of our own great bell ringing for the midnight mass. At that sound, Father Cassimer's countenance fell for the first time.—He knew the bellman was a poor, half-witted fellow, who would not be sensible of his absence; and then he turned to have another shot at the wolves.

Shot by this time were getting scarce among us. There was not a man had a charge left but old Wenzel, who had supplied us as long as he could; but at length, loading his own gun with his last charge, he laid it quietly in the corner, saying one didn't know what use there might be for it, and he never liked an empty gun.

Wenzel was the son of a small inn-keeper at Grodno, but after his father's decease, which occurred when he was a child, his mother had married a Russian trader, who, when she died, carried the boy to Moscow. There Wenzel bade fair to be brought up a Russian; but when a step-mother came home, which took place while he was still a youth, he had returned to his native country, built himself a hut in the woods of Lithuania, and lived a lonely hunter till the time of my story, when he was still a robust, though gray-haired man. Some said his Muscovite parents had not been to his liking; some that he had found cause to shoot a master to whom they apprenticed him at Moscow; but be that as it might, Wenzel hated the Russians with all his heart, and never scrupled to say that the gun which had served him so long would serve the country too if it ever came to a rising. So much for Wenzel's story, by way of explaining what followed; but as I stood beside him that night at the huts single crevice of a window, I could have given Poland itself for ammunition enough to do service on the wolves. They had now left nothing but the bones of our horses, which they had dragged round the cottage, with a din of howlings that almost drowned our voices within.—Then they seized on the bodies of their own slain companions, which were devoured to the very skins; and still the gathering was going on. We could see them coming in troops through the open glades of the forest, as if aware that some human prey was in reserve. The hut was strongly built of great pine logs, but it was fearful to hear them tearing at the door and scratching up the foundations. The bravest among us got terrified at these sounds. Metski loudly avowed his belief that the wolves were sent upon us as a punishment for hunting on Christmas Eve, and fell instantly to his prayers. Wenzel flung a blazing brand among them from the window, but they did not seem to care for fire; and three of them were so near leaping in, that he drove to the log-shutter and gave up that method of defence.—None of the party appeared so far overcome with terror as Count Theodore; his spirit and prudence both seemed to forsake him. When the wolves began to scratch, he threw himself almost on his face in the corner, and kept moaning and praying in Russian, of which none of us understood a syllable but old Wenzel. Emerich and I would have spoken to him, but the wood-man stopped us with a strange sign.

Count Theodore had taken the relic of some saint from a pocket book which he carried in his breast, and was, in Russian fashion as I think, confessing his sins over it; while his sister sat silent and motionless by the fire, with livid face and clasped hands. It was burning low, but I saw the woodman's face darken. He stepped to the corner and took down his gun, as I believed, to take the last shot at the wolves; but Count Theodore was in his way. He levelled it for an instant at the prostrate man, and before I could speak or interpose, the report, followed by a faint shrill shriek from the Russian, rang through the hut. We rushed to him, but the count was dead. A bullet had gone right through the heart.

"My gun has shot the count, and the wolves will leave us now," said Wenzel coolly. "I heard him say in his prayers that a Finn, now in the Siberian mines, had vowed to send them on him and his company wherever he went."

As the woodman spoke, he handed to Count Emerich, with a hoarse whisper, a bloody pocket book, taken from the dead body, and turning to Juana, said something loud and threatening to her in the Russian tongue; at which the lady only bowed her head, seeming of all in the hut to be the least surprised or concerned at the death of her brother. As for us, the complicated horrors of the night had left us stunned and stupified till the rapid diminution of the wolfish din, the sounds of shots and voices, and the glare of flambeaux lighting up the forest, brought most of us to the window. The wolves were scouring away in all directions, there was a grayness in the eastern sky, for Christmas-day was breaking; and from all sides the count's and my uncle's tenantry, with skates and sledges, guns and torches were pouring to the rescue as we shouted to them from the cottage.

They had searched for us almost since midnight, fearing that something terrible had detained Father Cassimer and his company from mass. There were wonderfully few wolves shot in the retreat, and we all went home to Count Emerich's house, but not in triumph, for with us went the body of the Russian, of which old Wenzel was one of the bearers. The unanimous determination we expressed to bring him to justice as a murderer, was silenced when Emerich shewed us in confidence a letter from the Russian minister, and a paper with all our names in a list of the disaffected in Upper Lithuania, which he had found in Theodore's pocket-book. After that, we all affirmed that Wenzel's gun had gone off by accident; and on the same good Christmas-day, Count Emerich, with a body of his retainers, escorted the lady Juana to a convent at the other end of the province, the superior of which was his aunt. There she became a true Catholic, professed and as I was told: turned to a great saint. There is a wooden cross with his name, and a Latin inscription on it, marking Count Theodore's grave, by our old church on the edge of the forest. No one ever inquired after him, and the company of that terrible night are far scattered. My uncle and his sons all died for the poor country. The young cousins are married to German doctors in Berlin. Constanza and her brother are still single, for aught I know, but they have been exiles in America these fifteen years. Father Cassimer went with them, after being colonel of a regiment which saw hard service on the banks of the Vistula; and it may be that he is still saying mass or hunting occasionally in the Far West.

The last time I saw Wenzel and Metski was in the trenches at Minsk, where they had a tough debate regarding our adventure in the forest: that brought the wolves in such unheard of numbers, and the peasant maintaining that it was a judgement on our desecration of Christmas-eve. For my own part, I think the long storm and a great scarcity of food had something to do with it, for tales of the kind were never wanting in our province. The wolf-gathering, however, saved us a journey to Siberia; thanks to old Wenzel. And some times yet, when any strange noise breaks in upon my sleep, even here in England, I dream of being in his wild hut in the forest and listening to the wolfish voices at the door.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SENTINEL.

Madison, March 23.

The House having passed a joint resolution some days since to cut off the postage on printed matter sent from here, and finding that the Senate is unwilling to come in to this measure of economy, passed this morning a resolution on its own account to pay no more postage on such matter sent by its members, after the 25th. The vote was a very decided one—57 to 6.

A town in Columbia county had its name changed by special enactment, from 'Kossuth" to "Leeds."

The new state prison bill, over which Mr. Taylor and others have been so long "incubating," was hatched this morning. Its first section provides that the Waupun establishment shall be the State Penitentiary "for the reformation as well as punishment" of offenders. It is probably a very good bill, though it was not read in full, but was ordered printed.

A plank road bill, introduced by Mr. Ricker, was introduced and sent along to committee this morning, in the same method as numerous other bills of the kind have been managed during the session. The process is interesting, and this bill may serve as an example.

The member introduces the bill, announcing its title, and moves that it be read by its title and referred to the committee on Incorporations. The member informs that committee that the bill is the same as all the others that have passed, and, unless the committee happens to be out of work, it is folded up and reported back, without amendment. When it comes up in committee of the whole, the member moves that it "be read by its title, as it is like all the others, with changes only to adapt it to the location," and the bill is reported back to the House. Coming up in order in the House, the question is put—"Shall this bill be engrossed and read a third time?" "I move it be read by its title, Mr. Speaker"—says the member—and so it is. The bill is engrossed, and coming up on its 3d reading and passage, it goes along by its title all through, "just as easy"—not a soul in the House, except the member introducing it, and perhaps some of the committee on Incorporations, knowing one jot of the provisions of the bill. Such is one of the evil consequences of the special legislation with which the State has been, and is still, and will be, cursed until the people resolve to have it cease. But the very men who, at home, exclaim most loudly against these evils, are the first to unite in sending their local projects up here every winter.

The bill which passed yesterday organizing 12 new towns on the north side of Fox River, in Marquette county, was reconsidered on motion of Mr. Root, and killed. From some statements made, it would seem to have been a very prettily concocted plan to give the people on the north side, living on unsurveyed lands and being only ¼ to ⅓ of the population of the county, a majority of the members on the county board of Supervisors. Some of the proposed towns, it was stated, would have had but 25 or 30 inhabitants.

The bill providing for the payment of interest upon warrants issued to contractors on the Improvement, was taken up and passed, the section requiring Mr. Martin's consent, being withdrawn. The members are divided in opinion upon the question of the interference of the payment referred to with Mr. Martin's contract. One thing is certain; which is, that if the payments do interfere with that contract, and Mr. Martin wishes to get away from his liabilities under that contract (which I do not believe,) then he has an opportunity. And another thing is certain; which is, that in case Mr. Martin should see fit to throw up his contract, there is a certain hale, hearty man of sound mind, called Levi Blossom, who would very gladly take the contract, and give bonds to the State that he would make an independent fortune out of it. At all events, it is fair enough to presume so, since it is pretty well understood that the individual aforesaid had a pretty considerable share in drafting the contract, and was very shrewdly managed out of any share in carrying out the same; and also since the same individual has never been known to undertake anything out of which he didn't make money. I don't think there need be any especial alarm about Mr. Martin's yielding up his contract.

After a hard struggle this morning, the House agreed to make the liquor traffic bills, the special order for this evening. There is great reluctance on the part of many members to hold evening sessions, after their six hours siege during the day. However, we make a beginning to-night, and it is to be hoped that the wedge once entered, will be driven home.

The Senate concurred in the resolution to receive no more new business after the 29th, and also killed the bill passed hastily by the House authorizing the State Treasurer to withold the school monies from counties which have not paid their State tax, to the extent of the deficiency. I noticed in the gallery this morning the good natured face of our county treasurer, who had drawn out the school money before the morning business commenced. The afternoon was occupied in committee of the whole upon the General Banking Law, or rather upon the project of receiving railroad stocks as a part of the securities under it. The friends of the project had compiled the amendments proposed into the form of four sections, and had them printed, and laid before the House. After some little preliminary skimishing, the direct question was brought on, when Col. Botkin spoke at some length in its favor, and Dr. Hoyt followed briefly on the same side. Mr. Shafter then took the floor, and followed with a speech occupying an hour and forty minutes against the project, going over the whole ground of objection. His speech was listened to with much interest throughout. Many of his points were forcible in themselves, and forcibly prosecuted, but his use of the argument of the Attorney General, relative to the power of the Legislature to alter or repeal charters, detracted very much from the force of his speech, since it is somewhat notorious that he has expressed his total dissent from the reasoning of the Attorney General. There were other points also in the speech which might easily be excepted to. But after all, I do not think that the minds of members are likely to be influenced, except to gain favor for the project, and it seems almost certain that the bonds will go into the bill in some form, eventually, though by a small majority.

The House adjourned at 6½ o'clock, to meet again at 7½, to take up the liquor traffic bills, pretty well wearied out with a hard day's work, and it is doubtful whether they accomplish much.

W. H. W.

Railroad Bonds for Securities.

The Assembly has been laboriously engaged for some three weeks past, in a minute and elaborate discussion of the General Banking Law, reported by the Select Committee having charge of the subject. There seems to be a very general, if not universal disposition among the members, to frame a Law, that shall secure a good currency to the People, while holding out sufficient inducements to Capitalists to embark in the business. The bill is nearly perfected, but for some days past it has made little progress; a severe and protracted struggle having taken place upon the proposition to take Rail Road bonds, under certain specific restrictions, as part security for the circulating notes. This proposition, when first made, met with little favor, and was voted down incontinently. But the more it has been discussed, the better it is liked, and the greater the number of its friends, until at the last test vote the Assembly appear to have been equally divided on the question.

Our own impressions have been, from the outset, favorable to the proposed measure. We do not see why the bonds of a Rail Road Company, having 30 or 40 miles of road well and substantially built, and in actual operation, issued to an amount not exceeding six or eight thousand dollars per mile, secured by mortgage on the road and constituting the first lien upon the same, are not just as good security as many of the State Stocks, at their present market value. It is a fixed fact, that Rail Roads in the West cost much less and produce much more, than similar works of Improvement in the Eastern States. It is undeniably true that the iron alone, where the heavy rail is used, will of itself nearly furnish the security required. And it does not admit of doubt that by making such bonds in part receivable for Banking securities, a very essential help will be given to the several Rail Road Companies organized in this State and only lacking means to push their various enterprises to successful completion and bring them into profitable use

While, therefore, we would throw all proper guards and restrictions around this measure, so as to secure, in every event, the bill holder from loss, we cannot doubt that it may be safely and properly incorporated into the General Banking Law, and that its adoption would impart a new impulse to the pro-ecution of the improvements and the development of the resources of our whole State.

PRICES OF PRODUCE.—The last Racine Commercial complains that the business of that city has suffered in consequence of "the impression that has gone abroad that higher prices can be obtained for grain &c., in Milwaukee" than in Racine. This impression the Commercial pronounces "utterly untrue," and not content with contradicting the rumor, proceeds thus:

"Our wheat and produce purchasers are at this time paying better prices than can be obtained in Milwaukee. And our merchants can and do sell all kinds of merchandize cheaper than they can be sold in that city.

The last clause of the above paragraph is obviously a mistake and needs no answer. As to the first, we take the Commercial's own quotations for Wednesday, 24th instant, and compare them with the quotations in Milwaukee on same day:—

DISCHARGED FROM IMPRISONMENT.—We understand that Judge WELLS yesterday decided the motion, argued before him some days since, for the discharge of Bridget McDonald from arrest, in favor of the application. The prisoner was indicted, with several others, for the murder of John Gullen last summer. The application for her discharge was based upon a provision of the Revised Statutes (sec. 12, chap. 116) to the effect that any person held in prison upon an indictment, shall, if he require it, be tried as soon as the next term of the court after the expiration of six months from the time when he was imprisoned, or shall be bailed upon his own recognizance, &c The motion was argued by Mr. District Attorney BUTLER, for the State, and by Mr. J. L. DORAN for the prisoner. Judge WELLS, after holding the matter under advisement for several days, granted the motion and gave an order for Mrs. McDonald's discharge.

WISCONSIN MARINE AND FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.—We learn from Madison that the proceedings against the Wisconsin Marine and Fire Insurance Company have been stayed, to give the corporators time to elect whether they will organize under the General Banking Law of the State, or discontinue business; Mr. MITCHELL stipulating to take one, or the other course. This is what the Company have always been ready and willing to do, as soon as the policy of the State, in reference to the business of Banking, should be definitively settled. When the Legislature have perfected and the People passed upon the General Banking Law, the Wisconsin Marine will either come in under its provisions, or quietly wind up its business.

ELECTION OF COMMISSIONERS OF PUBLIC WORKS.—The Republic, of Portage City, is in ecstacies with the result of the Legislative election for Members of the Board of Public Works, and rejoices especially over the defeat of Mr. CROSSWELL. The Republic thinks that the choice of an entire new Board, in place of the old one, is a sufficient and significant commentary, on the part of the Legislature, upon the exculpatory report of the select committee, which was pointed to by the "democratic" press, as so conclusively disposing of all the "whig fabrications" about the Improvement.

☞ The Rome (N. Y.) Sentinel states that L. Kenyon of that place, and John Butterfield of Utica, have entered into a contract with the proprietors of the Nicaragua line to California, for the conveyance of all passengers across from lake Nicaragua to the Pacific—twelve miles by Plank Road.

LAWS FOR THE COLLECTION OF DEBTS.—The following is the sensible report of Mr. WORTHINGTON, from the minority of the Committee to whom were referred sundry petitions, praying that all laws for the collection of debts might be abolished. The majority of the Committee reported in favor of the prayer of petitioners and introduced a bill in accordance therewith. Mr. WORTHINGTON dissents for the reasons hereinafter set forth:

Mr. Worthington, from the minority of the committee to which was referred sundry petitions for the repeal of all laws for the collection of debts, submitted the following report, to wit:

The undersigned, minority of the select committee to whom were referred sundry petitions praying for the repeal of the laws for the collection of debts, begs leave to report:

That while he differs but little from the majority of the committee as to the propriety and and ultimate effect of so modifying the laws that credit might rest upon its legitimate basis, viz: moral integrity and industry, he cannot agree with them that this is the proper time for expunging all such laws from our statutes.

Nor is the reasoning of the committee, as set forth in their report, so cogent, either in premises or conclusions, to the mind of your minority, as to meet his approbation.

Laws for the supposed protection of the creditor from the dishonesty of the debtor, who had been benefitted by the property of the former, have existed in all civilized countries from remote ages to the present time; and however oppressive or inhuman such enactments may at times have been, the fact of their existence and continuation is conclusive that they have been deemed necessary to the welfare of mankind.

In the language of our revolutionary fathers, "prudence dictates that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes;" and although human progress may demand the repeal of certain laws which may have become offensive or unjust, the minds and wishes of those most concerned in such laws should be known and consulted before they are so repealed.

The change recommended by the majority would affect all classes of society; and many, perhaps a large portion of the active, industrious citizens of the State might deem it an unwarrantable and hasty measure. Your minority is not aware that this subject has been canvassed by the people; that there has been any considerable thought upon the measure; or that, with the exception of the small number of the petitioners, there has been any demand for the repeal of these laws.

While your minority does not hold that "rascality is the normal condition of humanity," he does not agree with the majority that dishonesty must be attributed to the unfavorable circumstances with which the rogue is surrounded.—The attempt to cast the sin of the individual upon the society which he has offended, or to reform a corrupt heart by external caresses, is as futile as to make the cup and platter clean by washing the outside. If the fountain is turbid, we may look in vain for purity in the stream.

In conclusion, your minority is of opinion that when the existing laws are thought by the people to be inconsistent with the requirements or progress of the age, they will not fail to remind their representatives of their wishes, and procure such legislation as their moral and social condition may require; and while he would hold himself ready and cheerful to favor such repeal, were he convinced that it was demanded by the people, he deems it premature to legislate upon the subject at this time, and, therefore, recommends no action upon the bill reported by the majority.

Respectfully submitted,
D. WORTHINGTON.

NEW JEWELRY ESTABLISHMENT.—Mr. A. B. VAN COTT of Racine, has taken the store formerly occupied by S. GARDINER JR., on the corner of East Water and Michigan Streets, and is about to open a very handsome and extensive assortment of Jewelry there. The Racine Commercial, gives him this parting notice:

VAN COTT.—This gentleman has established a watch and jewelry store in Milwaukee at Gardiner's old stand, and will give the Milwaukeeans a larger assortment than they have ever had before, and one selected with better taste. Mr. Van Cott has been evidently successful here, and has for a long time had the best store of the kind in the State. He does not remove his establishment here, the Milwaukee stock being entirely new. He takes the old Gardiner stand on East Water Street.

THE CLIPPER YACHT AMERICA.—The following is an extract of a letter received by a friend from Lord de Blaquiere. It is dated Cadiz, Jan. 19th:

"I beg you will collect for me all paragraphs and stories you can about the yacht, as they will form a remarkable contrast to my master's log of her general performances, which, I am happy to say, up to this time, have been most satisfactory, and, I may safely add, most excellent. In gale or hurricane she behaves equally well, rides like a duck, is quite dry, and beat every vessel we meet, like a steamer. My master and crew are delighted with their berth, and are astonished at her performances and immense speed in all weathers. I am thankful to say I have quite recovered from my dangerous illness, and sail this evening for Gibralatar, thence to Malta."—London paper.

BURGLARS ABOUT!—Between 12 and 1 o'clock Wednesday night, the dwelling house of Mr. CALEB WALL in the First Ward was entered by two burglars. The noise they made roused one of Mr. W's clerks, who sleeps in the house, and he immediately called Mr. W. That gentleman, throwing open his chamber window, cried "fire"! and Mr. BONHAM at the Jail, hearing the cry, struck the alarm bell on the Court House. The burglars, not fancying the prospect, fled hastily from Mr. WALL's house and, joining in the cry of "fire," escaped down street, unsuspected. The alarm fortunately, was stopped, before the City became aroused.

MISTAKE CORRECTED.—It was Louisiana, not Kentucky—which recently declared for Cass. The mistake was caused by the telegraphic despatch to the New York papers being dated at Louisville. The Kentucky Democracy held their Convention some weeks since, and expressed their preference for Gen. BUTLER.

SAUK BRIDGE GONE.—We regret to learn, from the Republic of Portage City, that the new Bridge across the Wisconsin River, at Prairie du Sac, has been partly destroyed by the heavy Spring freshets. Most of the timber, however, has been saved, and the Bridge will be rebuilt as soon as the water subsides. It cost between 10 and 11 thousand dollars.

DONE CRYING.—The Wisconsin wisely concludes not to bore its readers or the Common Council with any more "lachrymose articles" over its loss of the City Printing. For all the good they did, it might as well have stopped some time since.

☞ Mr WALL's Furniture Auction Sale in the new Market Hall yesterday, was numerously attended and the bidding spirited. The room is remarkably well adapted to such a purpose.

NEW YORK AUCTION STORE.—A large sale of House-hold Furniture and other articles comes off at the New York Auction store of Mr. WARDNER, at 10 o'clock this morning.

☞ The ice has entirely disappeared from our river, and navigation, both in river and lake, may be considered free for the season.

More Tom-Foolery.

A bill to abolish all laws for the collection of debts, introduced by the select committee of which C. L. Sholes was chairman, has passed a second reading in the assembly of this state.—This has been a favorite hobby of Mr. S. for some years, but is really one of the most miserable humbugs ever conceived by a weak, disordered mind.

Wisconsin is experimenting with a sufficient number of laws of this general character already. It is by no means a settled point that our exemption, relief and stay laws are of any real advantage to the poor man, though enacted for his special benefit. Until these laws shall have been more fully tested, no countenance should be given to this new project. Its effects would be disastrous upon the poor equally with the rich. It would prevent the one from obtaining what he often needs, credit; to the other it would deny his just dues. Altogether, its effects would be more mischievous than those of any law affecting credit now in force in this state. We hope that upon its final reading in the house, it may go where it appropriately belongs—under the table.—Watertown Chronicle.

SUICIDE.—Paul Schwortzenfeldt, a German, residing about ten miles north of this place, committed suicide, by shooting himself through the head, on Saturday evening, the 13th inst.—Schwortzenfeldt and two men, one by the name of Steinber, the other Clainford, lived together as Socialists. On Saturday evening they had some hard words with each other, and S. took down his gun and went out, as they supposed, for the purpose of killing some game. Shortly afterwards they heard the report of the rifle, but did not go out to see what the trouble was, until morning, when they found him with the top of his head blown off and his rifle and dog by his side.—Republic, Portage City.

EMPIRE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
Union Springs, N. Y.

CAPITAL . . . . $100,000.

THE Directors of the Empire Insurance Company feel confident that the plan of Insurance adopted by them will meet with a hearty response from a discerning public. Our Charter and By-Laws require that the applications received shall be divided into two or more classes. Dwelling Houses, and property of similar hazard, only, can be insured in the First Class, excluding Taverns, Work-shops, School-houses, Seminaries, Churches, and other kinds of hazardous property, usually taken in the so-called "Farmers' Companies," or "Farmers' Departments." This will render the EMPIRE emphatically a "FARMERS' COMPANY."

They submit for the judgment of their fellow citizens the following summary of their plan of operations:

1. Policies will be divided into distinct Classes, the funds of each class being kept separate, and each paying its own losses. The notes given in one Class are not liable for losses happening in the other.

2. Any applicant may, at his option, pay a definite sum in full for his insurance, in lieu of giving his note.

3. The First Class to consist of dwelling houses and other farm buildings and personal property therein. Not more than two-thirds of the value of any building to be insured; but the personal property therein may be insured to its cash value.

4. The Second Class to consist of Churches, School-houses, Seminary buildings, Work-shops, Taverns, Stores, Mills propelled by water power, &c., and personal property therein.

5. Not more than $3000 will be taken in one risk.

6. Steam Mills of all kinds, Distilleries, Cotton and Woolen Factories, Powder and Oil Mills, Furnaces, Machine Shops, and other extra hazardous property will not be taken in this company.

7. This Company will hold itself responsible for the correctness of all surveys and other official acts of its authorized agents, thus ending all cavil as to the technical correctness of surveys, and the consequent liability of the Company.

8. Any policy-holder may at pleasure withdraw from the Company by paying his share of the losses up to the time of such withdrawal.

9. This Company will adjust all claims with promptness and liberality, and if at any time a difference shall arise between the parties, the same may be settled by a mutual reference in the county where the loss shall have occurred.

10. Additional Stoves may be set up, or moved from one room to another, without giving notice to the Company; also, such repairs as do not increase the hazard of the property, need not be notified

11. This Company will pay losses caused by lightning, whether the buildings are burned or otherwise damaged.

12. Should any more money be collected than sufficient to keep the company in a sound condition, it will be returned to the policy holders in proportion as each shall have paid in.

The Directors, in soliciting patronage for the Empire Insurance Company, do so in the firm conviction that the plan will be found as CHEAP and SAFE as any company can be made. In arranging their Rates of Hazard, and the kinds of property to be insured in each class, they have sought to secure sufficient cash premiums to meet all losses; laying by the small notes taken as a Reserve Fund, which shall render the Company perfectly safe against all contingencies.

For a more definite and full view of their plan of operations, they respectfully invite an examination of their Rates of Hazard and Classification of Property to be insured.

NEW YORK
MUTUAL BENEFIT ASSOCIATION,
Union Springs, N. Y.

THIS Association is formed for the mutual relief of its members in case of sickness or accident. A careful examination of its principles, and its beneficent objects, is respectfully solicited. The character and standing of the Board of Directors is a guaranty that the money received will be safely preserved, and faithfully devoted to the objects proposed. The progress of HEALTH INSURANCE, within the past few years, in localities where its principles have been understood, and its beneficent results practically seen and felt, is unparalleled.

Men are literally binding themselves together to bear one another's burdens. No kind of Insurance can be so generally useful as that of Health; for most people are dependent upon it as the capital which enables them to procure the means of livelihood. Hence, when by disease or accident this is gone, all is gone; and either an unpleasant dependence on friends, or poverty and pauperism, is the consequence. It is not presumed that accident or the ravages of disease can be prevented; but by a wise forethought, a fountain may be provided, which, when the hand of affliction does come, will soften its asperities, and secure a comfortable support for yourself or family.

Conditions of Membership.

A CERTIFICATE OF MEMBERSHIP will be forwarded on payment of $1,50 Admission Fee, and the first annual deposit mentioned below. Each member will be entitled to a Weekly Benefit during the time disabled by sickness or accident from attending to his ordinary business or occupation. Persons from 14 to 60 years of age, of ordinary health and good habits, may become members on the following conditions:

THE subscriber having leased the well known Hotel, the MILWAUKEE HOUSE, for a term of years, and being desirous of engaging in other business, he will let the above Hotel reasonably.

It is an acknowledged fact, that this Hotel is doing as good and respectable a business as any Hotel in this city, and can be had at a cheaper rent than any other Hotel in Milwaukee of the same capacity and standing. They will also find comfortable and pleasant accommodations both for themselves and friends, but will please to remember that the establishment is intended for the cure of diseases by means of water, and not for a hotel at a fashionable watering place. The people of the State of Wisconsin represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows

Section 1 The Green Bay, Milwaukee, and Chicago rail road company are hereby authorized and fully empowered in their corporate capacity to borrow any sums of money from any person or persons, corporations or body politic of any kind and for any rate of interest which may be agreed upon by and between said company and any person or party of whom such money may be obtained, and make out and execute in their corporate name all necessary writings, notes, bonds, or other papers, and make, execute and deliver such securities in amount and kind, as may be deemed expedient by said corporation any law on the subject of usury in this state or any other state where such transactions may be made to the contrary notwithstanding, and the powers of said corporation, for the purposes aforesaid, and for all purposes necessary to carrying out the object of said company, are hereby ratified and confirmed, and the contracts and other acts of said company declared binding in law and equity upon said corporation and upon all other parties to such contracts

SEC 2 It shall be lawful for said company to purchase lands adjoining or adjacent to the rail road for the purpose of procuring earth, gravel, or other materials for embankments and structures necessary to the construction and repairs of said road and necessary buildings and whenever such lands shall be no longer needed for the purposes aforesaid the said company are hereby authorized to sell and convey the same

SEC 3 The said company are hereby authorized and empowered to extend lay out and continue the said rail road to some point on Lake Superior or to Minnesota Territory and are also authorized to construct such turnouts, and side tracks and switches as they may deem necessary or proper, and they shall also have power to increase the capital stock of said company whenever in their opinion the exigencies of said company shall require it, to such an amount as shall be necessary to construct and complete said road

SEC 6 This act shall take effect from and after such time as said company shall assent to this amendment

THE GREAT FRESHET.—Our accounts from all parts of the State, concur in representing an unprecedented damage-doing freshet. The Grand River, much the largest stream in the State—being, at Grand Rapids, a quarter of a mile wide, has swept all its bridges for more than two hundred miles, with the exception of one at Jackson, one at Lansing, and one at Grand Rapids. At the latter place, great damage must have been suffered We give to-day an article from the Enquirer—which gives very unsatisfactory details—and one more minute from the State Journal, at Lansing In Kent County, the long bridge, at Ada, crossing the Grand River (nearly new) and the bridge crossing the Thornapple and another bridge crossing Grand River at Plainfield have been swept away Also the bridge crossing the Cold Water and another (accounts say) crossing the Thornapple this side (all expensive bridges), have been carried off The injury to dams and mills at Grand Rapids and in other parts of Kent county must have been immense The bridge at Grand Rapids, supported by massive towering stone piers, was in great danger, so that its use was deemed too hazardous, and had been discontinued In Ionia county, all the bridges crossing the Grand River had been swept by the board, and at last accounts the water was still rising From every part of the State we hear of the devastating current sweeping off the labor of years. Serious fears are entertained for the Saginaw country, where many hundred thousand dollars have been invested in the lumber business.—Detroit Free Press, 25th inst

APPORTIONMENT OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.—The report of the Judiciary Committee and the resolution of the Senate, affirming the number of Presidential electors in each State, to be determined by the apportionment under the Census of 1850, and not that which will be in force when the election takes place in Nov next, has caused great surprise The decision has been arrived at upon the precedents of the law of 1792 and not upon the Constitution itself The following are the gains and losses under this new rule —Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont, New-York, South Carolina, and California, each lose one elector, Virginia and North Carolina, lose two votes each, total loss ten votes. Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Mississippi, and Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin, Arkansas, and Missouri, gain one each. Illinois gains two The total number of votes will be two hundred and ninety-five

OPENING OF THE ILLINOIS CANAL.—The Superintendent advertises that the Canal will be opened on the 29th inst. We trust nothing will occur to cause another delay Business is suffering very much for the want of water communication with the South.—Chicago Tribune.

IMPORTANT TO CONTRACTORS.

PLANK ROAD LETTING.

PROPOSALS will be received by the undersigned for the grading superstructure and bridging of the Glasgow and Huntsville Plank Road

For the information of non-resident contractors it is proper to state that this road is intended to run from the city of Glasgow, on the Missouri River with the town of Huntsville, in Randolph Co Mo., and is about twenty eight miles in length The country over which it passes abounds with suitable timber and is in other respects favorable to the cheap construction of plank roads There are however, a few streams which will require bridges of considerable extent

The time for the completion of the road has not yet been fixed, and though it is desirable to complete the road as soon as possible yet sufficient time will be allowed contractors Contractors may rely upon prompt payments, as the means of the company are ample

Those who wish to examine the route will receive all necessary information from May 1 Walker the Engineer

Bids will be received until the first of June next when it is proposed to assign the work to the bidder or bidders whose proposals may be approved as most favorable to the company Plans of the work will be ready for inspection first of April

For the encouragement of contracting companies, it is proper to state that there are two other plank roads in contemplation in the vicinity, both of which will no doubt be constructed

Communications are required in July next, one copy to be addressed to the undersigned at Huntsville, the other to E A Savage Esq Secretary of the Company at Glasgow

PATENT MEDICINES.

Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1851 by J S HOUGHTON, M D, in the clerk's Office of the District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

Another Scientific Wonder!

DR. J. S. HOUGHTON'S

GREAT DYSPEPSIA CURER!

PEPSIN

DIGESTIVE FLUID,

OR

GASTRIC JUICE

PREPARED from Rennet or the fourth Stomach of the Ox after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiological Chemist, by J S Houghton, M D Philadelphia, Pa.

This is a truly wonderful remedy for Indigestion Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint Constipation and Debility Curing after Nature's own method, by Nature's own Agent the Gastric Juice

☞ Half a teaspoonful of PEPSIN, infused in water will digest or dissolve, Five Pounds of Roast Beef in about two hours out of the stomach

PEPSIN is the chief element, or Great Digestive Principle of the Gastric Juice—the Solvent of the Food the Purifying, Preserving and Stimulating Agent of the Stomach and Intestines It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming an Artificial Digestive Fluid precisely like the natural Gastric Juice in its Chemical powers and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it By the aid of this preparation the pains and evils of Indigestion and Dyspepsia are removed just as they would be by a healthy Stomach It is doing wonders for Dyspeptics, curing cases of Debility, Emaciation Nervous Decline and Dyspeptic Consumption, supposed to be on the verge of the grave The Scientific Evidence upon which it is based is in the highest degree Curious and Remarkable

SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE.

Baron Liebig in his celebrated work on Animal Chemistry, says "An Artificial Digestive Fluid analogous to the Gastric Juice may be readily prepared from the mucous membrane of the stomach of the Calf in which various articles of food as meat and eggs will be softened changed, and digested just in the same manner as they would be in the human stomach."

Dr Pereira in his famous treatise on "Food and Diet," published by Fowler & Wells New York page 35 states the same great fact, and describes the method of preparation There are few higher authorities than Dr Pereira

Dr Combe, in his valuable writings on the "Physiology of Digestion," observes that "a diminution of the due quantity of the Gastric Juice is a prominent and all prevailing cause of Dyspepsia," and he states that "a distinguished professor of medicine in London who was severely afflicted with this complaint finding everything else to fail, had resource to the Gastric Juice, obtained from the stomachs of living animals, which proved completely successful

Dr Graham author of the famous works on "Vegetable Diet," says "It is a remarkable fact in physiology, that the stomachs of animals, macerated in water impart to the fluid the property of dissolving various articles of food, and of effecting a kind of artificial digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestive process"

Professor Dunglison of the Jefferson College, Philadelphia, in his great work on Human Physiology devotes more than fifty pages to an examination of this subject—His experiments with Dr Beaumont, on the Gastric Juice obtained from the living human stomach and from animals are well known "In all cases, he says digestion occurred as perfectly in the artificial as in the natural digestions"

Dr John W Draper, Professor of Chemistry in the Medical College of the University of New York in his "Text Book of Chemistry, page 386 says, "It has been a question whether artificial digestion could be performed—but it is now universally admitted that it may be

Dr Carpenter's standard work on Physiology which is in the library of every Physician and is used as a Text Book in all the Colleges is full of evidence similar to the above respecting the remarkable Digestive power of Pepsin and the fact that it may be readily separated from the stomach of the calf or ox and used for experiments in Artificial Digestion or as a remedy for disease of the Stomach, and deficient secretion of Gastric Juice.

All modern works on Chemistry, Materia Medica, and Physiology and all good Medical Dictionaries, describe the character and properties of PEPSIN, and state many interesting details respecting it

The fact that an Artificial Digestive Fluid or Gastric Juice perfectly resembling the natural fluid may be readily prepared does not admit of question The only wonder is, that it has not before been applied to the cure of Indigestion and Dyspepsia—so naturally does such a use suggest itself to the mind

AS A DYSPEPSIA CURER,

Dr HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN has produced the most marvellous effects in curing cases of Debility, Emaciation Nervous Decline and Dyspeptic Consumption It is impossible to give the details of cases in the limits of this advertisement but authenticated certificates have been given of more than Two Hundred Remarkable Cures, in Philadelphia New York and Boston alone These were nearly all desperate cases and the cures were not only rapid and wonderful but permanent

It is a great Nervous Antidote, and particularly useful for tendency to Billious disorder Liver complaint, Fever and Ague or badly treated Fever and Ague, and the evil effects of Quinine Mercury, and other drugs upon the Digestive Organs, after a long sickness Also, for excess in eating, and the too free use of ardent spirits It almost reconciles Health with Intemperance

OLD STOMACH COMPLAINTS.

WISTAR'S

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

THE BEST REMEDY EVER KNOWN

TO MAN, for Coughs, Asthma Colds Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficulty of Breathing, Liver Affections, Pain or Weakness of the Breast or Side First Stages of Consumption, &c

In short, this Balsam is peculiarly adapted to every disease of the Lungs and Liver, which is produced in our ever varying climate

WILD CHERRY has long been known to possess important medicinal properties This fact is familiar to every matron in our land, and physicians often prescribe it in different forms for a variety of complaints Tar also, has been equally noted for its virtues and some physicians, whose names are familiar to the whole country, have gone so far as to declare that even CONSUMPTION could be cured by that alone In other hands again it was nearly valueless—owing, no doubt to their ignorance in preparing and administering it—a difficulty now entirely obviated by patient experiment and long experience

The extraordinary medicinal powers of these two substances are now, for the first time, combined and embodied in DR WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY By a nice chemical process, everything deleterious or useless is rejected, so that what remains is the most extraordinary and truly efficacious remedy for all kinds of pulmonary and liver diseases ever known to man To convince all unbelievers that our theory is really true, we refer to a few cases of cures performed by this wonderful medicine

PLEASANT RIDGE Hamilton Co, O,

September 27, 1850

J D Park—Dear Sir—I take the liberty of advising you of the benefit I have derived from the use of Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry I was prostrated by that terrible scourge Consumption in May last The attack was truly horrifying to me as five of our family (brothers and sisters) had died of consumption I was afflicted with nearly all the worst features of the disease I had a distressed cough, and expectorated a great deal of blood, hectic fever severe pains in the side and chest, cold chills, alternating with flushes of heat and copious night sweats

I was under the care of a skillful physician from the time I was taken sick until about six weeks since being then about helpless, and my friends considered my case hopeless, or at least beyond our Physician's skill and advised the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry Without my knowledge, my father procured it, and commenced administering it to me, and from the first day I commenced taking it, my health improved, and in two weeks from the time I commenced using it, I was able to be out and oversee my business and labor which I still continue to do I have taken four bottles of the medicine, and now consider myself perfectly well JEREMIAH ISCRIGG

Another astonishing Cure!

F Kalb, a highly respectable merchant of Rushville Fairfield county, Ohio, sent us the following voluntary tribute to

"DR WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY"

Rushville, Fairfield Co, O April 6, 1851

Mr J D PARK—Dear Sir—I wish to state to you that my daughter, Amanda, aged sixteen years, had about a year since, a very severe attack of measles, which resulted (I fear very much) and left her with a racking cough I employed all of the physicians within our reach for the purpose of removing her cough, but without success She appeared to be sinking into a decline, with every symptom of consumption

I then tried Dr Rogers' Liverwort and Tar But this aggravated her cough and gave her symptoms of a still more malignant character I was now most seriously alarmed and it was with trembling fear that I from day to day saw the progress of that insatiable disease, consumption I really despaired of my daughter's recovery But I providentially saw the certificate of Jonathan Coulson, who's daughter Sarah Jane was cured of consumption by "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" this created a faint hope that it might help my daughter and I immediately commenced using it, and it almost instantly gave relief her health was improved from the first bottle, and by the use of two bottles of "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" she was restored to perfect health, and she is not at all predisposed to a cough.

I will say to all that are afflicted with any disease tending to consumption do not despair, for Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry will cure you, if you will but try it

F KALB

The genuine Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has a fac simile of the signature of Henry Wistar, M D Philadelphia, and "Sanford & Park" on a finely executed steel engraved wrapper No other can be genuine

PRESSED, FIRE-PROOF TILING.

CERTIFICATES OF RECOMMENDATION.

BY the present, I attest my entire satisfaction with the roof of my house, covered with the pressed, fire-proof Tile, invented by Mr. Graessle; having found them perfectly secure during snowstorms, rains, wind and intense cold. I hereby take occasion to recommend said roof covering to every house-builder, inviting them to satisfy themselves by ocular inspection of the excellent quality of the same. ENNO MEYER.
Druggist, 374 W. Water-st., 2nd ward.
Milwaukee, Feb. 3, 1852.

The above I found true in every respect, as to the roof of my house, covered with the same tile, invented by Mr. Graessle. AUGUST KRUG, Brewer, Chestnut-st., 2nd ward.

The undersigned, having carefully examined the pressed roofing Tiles, invented by Mr. Graessle, have found them perfectly answering the purpose intended. Their practical and sagacious construction recommend this kind of Tile, not only as a fire proof and perfectly water-proof covering, but above all for its durability. The ridges and channels not only exclude the entering of snow or rain-water, but, by their firm and precise joining of one into the other, they give to the single Tile as well as to the whole covering an absolutely moveable position and an intimate connection. Besides this, Mr. Graessle's method of burning the Tiles, deprives them of the injurious tendency to absorb water, making them in this way durable; and joining to the above another virtue, viz. that of dispensing with repairs. The undersigned therefore consider ourselves fully justified in recommending to the building community the above roofing Tile as an excellent and valuable material.

To G. Graessle:—I have examined the Roofing Tile made by you, and have no hesitation in recommending them to general use, and particularly as a fire-proof roof.

The following list of patterns is offered with the confidence that they will give satisfaction in every particular, viz:

THE ECONOMIST
DOUBLE OVEN COOKING STOVE,
(Which received the First Premium at the State Fair, lately held at Janesville,)

Possesses great advantages over every other stove, for plain flues and direct application of heat, being so arranged that one or both ovens can be used at pleasure. It will cook in half the time of any other stove now in use, and with half the fuel, not consuming over four cords of wood in one year.

The TRIUMPH, single oven, takes in long wood, is an excellent stove—one that has been well tested, and given general satisfaction.

The PREMIUM is different in its construction from any other made, in the arrangement of the fire back—acknowledged to be a great improvement.

The JUNO PARLOR is adapted to either wood or coal, being decidedly the neatest arrangement ever offered to the public, having all the convenience of the stove combined with the beauties of the open grate. It is beautifully ornamental, highly finished, and perfect in every respect—the entire front above and below the grate being opened or closed with three doors, and so arranged that when open they are completely out of sight. It is equally adapted to offices as well as parlors.

The RADIATOR is the best coal stove ever got up as a radiator of heat.

Persons purchasing their stoves of us, in the event of any of the plates getting broke, can at all times be supplied with extra ones, thus superceding the necessity of throwing away stoves which many are daily compelled to do in buying Eastern ware.

Those who are in want of an articles in our line, will find it to their advantage to give us a call, before purchasing elsewhere, as we are confident that we can give satisfaction in all cases. City references given, where our stoves can be seen in operation. Stoves delivered and set up in any part of the city, free of charge. All orders promptly attended to.

A Word of Caution to the Public!

Dealers in Pain Killer are cautioned against buying or selling a spurious article of Pain Killer, manufactured by White & Co, of Buffalo, which is a worthless imitation and the pamphlets a "base forgery" which will appear by comparing them with the Genuine. "The certificates are copied verbatim." The proprietor of the Genuine Perry Davis' Pain Killer will prosecute any person, engaged in selling this spurious article, and is determined to protect himself and the public from this "infamous fraud." Many unprincipled persons, to deceive the public, and for the sake of gain, have applied the name Pain Killer or something similar to their own compounds such as Pain Destroyer, Pain Killing Compound, a real Pain Killer, &c. &c. all of which have been got up on the reputation of Perry Davis' Pain Killer. The public are cautioned against these mixtures.

THE HUMAN FRAME

Is the most perfect masterpiece of mechanism in the universe. Every artery, muscle, ligament and bone, exhibits in its formation the wisdom of the Deity. Every joint and sinew works harmoniously with each other, and upon the natural performance of every function depends the healthful action of the whole.

PAIN

Disorganizes the whole system, it prostrate the nerves, it relaxes the muscles, it weakens the joints, it interferes with the functions of every organ, it checks the free and healthy circulation of the blood, it paralizes the absorbents, and renders them unable to take up and replete the wasted form with sound material. From the very moment that this beautiful masterpiece of God becomes afflicted with pain, the influence is experienced throughout the whole system, no matter in what particular locality the pain may originate; whether in the Head, the Feet, the Back, the Knee Joints, the Elbows, the Teeth, the Gums, or the Stomach; whether it arises from internal derangement, or is the result of external injuries, still the pain exercises its influence throughout every portion of the human system.—Not a nerve or a muscle escapes its prostrating influence.

INSTANT RELIEF FROM PAIN

Is the great desideratum of every individual who suffers its tortures, no matter how light or severe its paroxysms may be. No one can feel happy while suffering its torments.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
In a few seconds
WILL STOP THE MOST DISTRESSING PAINS.

Its effects are like electricity; it arrests the most distressing pangs in a few seconds, its soothing, neutralizing and healthful influences thrill through every minute cell, membrane, and establishes the secretion of every gland in the system, subduing the most excruciating paroxysm of pain, and imparting strength and vitality to every organ.

NEURALGIA.
PAIN STOPPED INSTANTLY.

Radway's Ready Relief possesses an almost miraculous influence over the sharp darting pangs of pain of this cruel complaint. In a few minutes the pain-stricken sufferer experiences the delightful sensations of departing pain. It has cured thousands of cases in the city of New York, where many of them had been brought almost to death's door. The effects of the Ready Relief is to stop the pain immediately, to strengthen the nervous system, and supply the nerves with nervous energy and vitality, the loss of which is the chief cause of nervous pains.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

The use of Morphine, Strychnine, Acontine, Belledonna Arnica, and other poisons are not only dangerous but cruel. The effect of these poisons is not to cure the disease, or to remove from the system the pains, but to deaden the nerves, to weaken and stop the nervous energy, to paralyze the functions of the nervous system, and to destroy sensation.

If this practice is continued for any length of time, the patient will not only waste away, but the brain will become paralyzed, and the intellect destroyed.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
IS FREE FROM MORPHINE,

And all other dangerous and narcotic influence. To the weak and paralyzed nervous system it imparts life instead of death, and the pain is stopped by the healthy influence which Radway's Ready Relief imparts to the nerves; instead of the lifeless, sleepy and paralyzing effect which Morphine, and all other preparations containing this poison, produces on the system.

SICK HEADACHE.

Radway's Ready Relief will stop the most distressing pains in a few minutes, and prevent renewed attacks. It will cleanse and sweeten the stomach, and neutralize the poisonous acids of the system.

ALL BOWEL COMPLAINTS,

Diarrhœa,	Dysentery,
Bloody Flux,	Cholera Morbus,
Painful Discharges,

It relieves the most severe pains in a few minutes—checks the most distressing discharges, and

SPEEDILY REMOVES THE CAUSE.

RHEUMATISM.
PAINS RELIEVED IN FIVE MINUTES.

Radway's Ready Relief will stop the severe and excruciating pains of Rheumatism almost instantly. Persons are living in this city who, for months, were confined to their beds by Rheumatic pains, whose bones were unsound from top to toe, whose joints were distorted with painful swellings, that were relieved from all pain in 15 minutes by the use of Radway's Ready Relief. This is truth, and thousands in the city of New York, and hundreds of thousands in the United States, can answer for the truth of this assertion—we need no certificates of Cures—we publish no long list of names to prove the efficacy of Radway's Ready Relief, for the Citizens of almost every town in the Union, for the last four years, have tested it for themselves.

CHILL FEVER.
CHILLS STOPPED IN A FEW MINUTES—PAIN RELIEVED INSTANTLY.

Radway's Ready Relief acts like a charm in all cases of Chills and Fever. It breaks the chills immediately—warms up and invigorates with health and strength every organ and secretion of the system.

PAINS OF ALL KINDS.

Whenever you feel pain, apply Radway's Ready Relief—it is sure to relieve you in a few minutes. If you have pains in the Stomach, Intestines, in the Liver, Kidney's, Bowels, Joints, Bones, Radway's Ready Relief, taken either internally or applied externally, will in a few minutes stop pain and quickly remove its cause.

BEAUTY.

Complexion richly tinted with the bloom of health,
With skin as pure and fair as Parian marble,—
Soft and sweet as the fragrant rose—
Teeth as sound and white as alabaster,
Breath of sweetest fragrance, and lips of coral tint,
With flowing ringlets and glossy locks,
Luxuriant tresses dancing gracefully o'er the swan like neck
No dark repulsive spots to mar the pleasing picture,
Or to cast dull shadows o'er beauty's master piece.

RADWAYS MEDICATED SOAP.

Composed of the most delicious, rare and fragrant gums,
Of extracts, oils, and costly essences—
Of flowers, roots, trees, and oriental plants,
Possessing wondrous virtues o'er skin diseases.

TO THE COMPLEXION IT IMPARTS BEAUTY.

By cleansing the skin from all eruptive matter,
Makes clean the pores, gives action to the capillaries,
By which all poisonous humors are ejected,—
And a healthy action to the skin restored,
To the teeth it gives whiteness and prevents decay,
It makes the skin soft, sweet and smooth,
Transforms the most repulsive and disfigured visage,—
To a clear and beautiful complexion.

RADWAY'S CIRCASSIAN BALM.

Imparts nutriment to the hair,—
Makes it stong, glossy, rich and luxuriant,—
Cleanses the scalp from dandruff,—gives action to the bulbs,
Fastens the hair upon the scalp, and forces it to grow—
Like guano to a barren soil, it makes it rich and productive,—
To dress the hair, make it smooth and glossy,—
Strong and beautiful, &c.

Radway's Circassian Balm is the "ne plus ultra."

HOOFLAND'S CELEBRATED GERMAN

BITTERS,

Prepared by Doct. C. M. Jackson,
AT THE GERMAN MEDICINE STORE,
120 Arch-st., Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skillful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching powers in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are withal safe, certain and pleasant.

READ AND BE CONVINCED.
[From the Boston Bee.]

The Editor said, Dec. 22: "Dr. Hoofland's celebrated German Bitters, for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day. These Bitters have been used by thousands, and a friend at our elbow says he has himself received an effectual and permanent cure of Liver Complaint from the use of this remedy. We are convinced that, in the use of these Bitters, the patient constantly gains strength and vigor, a fact worthy of great consideration. They are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be used by persons with the most delicate stomachs with safety, under any circumstances. We are speaking from experience, and to the afflicted we advise their use."

SCOTT'S WEEKLY,

One of the best literary papers published, said, August 25 "DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS, manufactured by Dr Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the faculty, as an article of much efficacy in cases of female weakness. As such is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitated constitution will find these Bitters advantageous to health, as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems."

The Daily Sun says:—"It is one of the best medicines of the age for Jaundice and Liver Complaint."

Neal's Gazette says:—"Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters we know to be an excellent article, fulfilling in every respect what is claimed for it by the advertiser."

The Evening Bulletin says:—"The celebrated German Bitters are said to be an invaluable remedy for Jaundice, Dyspepsia, and Nervous Complaints."

The Daily News, July 24, says:—"A Medicine"—We speak knowingly of Dr. Hofland's celebrated German Bitters, when we say it is a blessing of this age, and in diseases of the biliary, digestive and nervous systems, it has not, we think, an equal. It is a vegetable preparation, and made without alcohol, and to all invalids we should recommend it as worthy of their confidence."

The Dispatch says:—"As a medicine for Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Nervous Debility, and Dyspepsia, it has been found invaluable, effecting cures, and thoroughly eradicating disease, when all other medicines have failed."

That this medicine will cure Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, no one can doubt, after using it as directed. It acts specifically upon the stomach and liver—it is preferable to calomel in all bilious diseases—the effect is immediate. They can be administered to Females or Infants with safety and reliable benefit, at any time.

LOOK WELL TO THE MARKS OF THE GENUINE.

They have the written signature of C. M. JACKSON upon the wrapper, and the name blown in the bottle, without which they are spurious.

GREAT DISCOVERY.
JOHNSON'S CHEMICAL
HAIR INVIGORATOR,

To Prevent Baldness, and to Restore the Hair that has fallen off or become thin, and to cure effectually

SCURF OR DANDRUFF.

Prepared only by S. JOHNSON, 151 E. Water-st,
FOR THE TOILET,

THE INVIGORATOR is considered infinitely better than oil or grease for the hair, and is an article in which a cleansing and purifying wash is beautifully blended with a most delicate, silky and glossy moisture for the hair, never before attained, yet free from animal grease or essential oils. It clears the pores of the skin, causes a healthy action of the blood vessels, nerves, &c., which free the hair, thereby preventing baldness and gray hair, entirely frees the skin from scurf, dandruff, and other cutaneous diseases, disposes the hair to curl, and keeps it so; will positively change the harshest hair into the most soft, healthy, glossy state, also imparts to it a darker color, and the free use of it will keep both the skin and hair in a healthy and luxuriant state until the lastest period of life.

Ladies will find the Invigorator a great addition to the toilet, both on account of its delicate and agreeable perfume, and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with the Invigorator, can be dressed in any required form, so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls. When used on children's heads, it lays the foundation for a good head of hair. Nov 24 2m

Ketchum & Comstock,
HATTERS,
202 Main Street, Buffalo.

We would respectfully call the attention of our many friends, and the public generally, to an instrument we have recently imported from Paris, called a from which the above cut was taken. By it we can take the exact shape, and unerringly fit the most irregular heads. Many can testify to the inconvenience, and annoyance, and actual pain they are subjected to, in breaking in Hats that will not fit them. By this ingenious contrivance, this very great annoyance is done away; as the Hats are made to fit perfectly the first time.

Another great advantage is, by keeping a copy of the impression, we can at all times fit our customers from all parts of the country.

We invite all who desire a perfect fit in a Hat, to call and leave an impression of their head; and all those who take pleasure in witnessing the inventions of the ingenious, to call and see the operations of this curious instrument.

Having adopted the CASH SYSTEM (which all will readily acknowledge to be the best,) we are enabled to sell the best Silk Hat made, at the extreme low price of $4.25; surpassing any $5 Hat sold in this city. Our Hats are all manufactured by ourselves, and in offering them to our customers, we do so, with the confident assurance, they are all we recommend them to be. We invite all who do not wish to pay two profits upon a Hat, and are willing to save 25 per cent, to call and see us.
